R. R. BILL DEBATE WILL SOON BREAK LOOSE IN SENATE

Sharp-and prolonged discussion of the Administration railroad bill will soon break out in the Senate.

Senator Smith, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, has presented the bill to the Senate in the form agreed to by a majority of the committee. He expects to bring it up for consideration early the coming week.

Senators La Follette and Cummins will file minority views. Both will attack some of the features of the bill in severe terms. They will endeavor to amend the bill on the floor and will have support of a number of Senators.
The amount of compensation which the roads are allowed by the bill is researched by Senators La Follette and regarded by Senators La Follette and Cummins as excessive.
